Planning Group Favors Bypass of 29 to West

The City Planning Commission has released the following letter which explains the groups position on re-routing Highway 29: "Mr. Jim Lowder, District Engineer Arkansas State Highway Department District Office, Hope, Arkansas: "Dear Mr. Lowder: "On April 23, 1963, the City Planning Commission reviewed your proposed plan for bringing Highway 29 in on South Hervey Street. At the time this plan was presented to us, we understood that the alternative was that of Highway 29 continuing to be brought in on South Main Street. After reviewing your detailed plan, we unanimously approved it.

"At this time there was no information available to the Commission of a proposal for a 5.3 mile bypass of Highway 67 around the City of Hope. Although several members of the Commission mentioned the possible alternate of a bypass of Highway 29 to the west of the city, they were informed that there had been no such study made.

"As you know from the transcript of the public hearing, there is strong opposition to the plan from the residents on the street and in the neighborhood of South Hervey Street.

"Following our endorsement of the proposal and the public hearing, held April 26th, an announcement was published in the Hope Star on Tuesday, April 30th, that the Arkansas Highway Commission, at its meeting on Wednesday, April 24th, programmed a 5.3 mile city bypass of Highway 67 at Hope.

"If a bypass of Highway 67 around Hope is, as it appears, in the near future plans of the highway department, the members of the City Planning Commission unanimously wish to amend their endorsement of the proposed South Hervey routing of Highway 29 to a strong endorsement that Highway 29 be rerouted to the west of Hope and joined with the Highway 67 bypass of the city."

Yours very truly,
Arch Wylie, chairman, Hope Planning Commission; C. C. Lewis, Hulian White, Jas. McFarly, Mrs. Chas. Graham (absent), E. P. Young Jr., Bill Rouben, Wallis Monroe, and W. D. Flowers Jr.

Steamer Liquor Still Seized

DE QUEEN, Ark. (AP) — Federal and state liquor agents raided a rare 120-gallon "steamer" liquor still Sunday 16 miles north of De Queen, and arrested four men on a charge of operating it.

It was the first such still seized in Arkansas in 15 years, said Janit.

The steam still differs from the conventional type in that it utilizes a boiler and produces whisky twice as fast as a regular still.

The moonshiners dammed a creek and ran a coil of pipe through the pool that was created. This caused the whisky to condense into liquid and run out of the pipe into a tub.

Arrested were Lem Vivian Due, 57, Gordon Doniver Warford, 48, Henry Milton Wright, 59, and Bethard Tee 30.

Convicted Slayer Plans an Appeal

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — Attorneys for Frederick Rush have petitioned for a new trial in Sebastian Circuit Court, charging that Rush's first degree murder conviction April 30 was "contrary to both law and evidence in the case."

The petition, the first step toward appealing the case to the Arkansas Supreme Court, also alleged that the circuit court committed 27 errors in trying Rush.

Rush was charged in the fatal shooting of Paul Rush, his stepfather, last May 13 in the basement of the family's V&R Sales Co. in Fort Smith. He was sentenced to life in prison by a jury of 11 men, including one Negro, and one woman.

The 26-year-old Rush, red-haired and slightly built, had pleaded innocent. He contended that Paul Rush was killed by a burglar and that he was wounded in the shoulder by the same assailant while he and the elder Rush were investigating a light in the V&R building.

Also charged in the case are Raymond Wood, 21, of Roland, Okla., Rush's cousin, who is to be tried May 20, and Carolyn Brown 20 of Fort Smith, who will be tried later.

Miss Brown previously had been scheduled to come to trial before Wood, but suffered a nervous breakdown while in jail at Fort Smith.

Ted Weems, Orchestra Leader, Dies

By PAUL RECER

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Ted Weems, who started his musical career before he was tall enough to see music on a stand and became one of the nation's top bandleaders, died Monday night of a lung ailment.

"He was a great man, so loving and vital," said Marilyn Maxwell, one of the stars who got her start with Weems. "It is a big loss and he will be missed by many."

Perry Como, another former Weems' singer, termed him "a true gentleman." Other stars who got their start with Weems included bandleader Jan Garber and Snooky Lanson.

They had kept in close touch since Weems entered a hospital March 14.

His wife, Eleanor, stayed in Tulsa during his last illness. Their 38th wedding anniversary was Sunday, a funeral home spokesman said.

Other survivors include his mother, Victoria Weems of Hamilton, Ohio; a son, Ted Jr., Dallas, Tex.; and a brother Robert Cincinnati Ohio.

Weems' son said funeral services would be in Bethesda Md. Weems, 62, had operated a theatrical agency in recent years with his son in Dallas, which also was the band's headquarters. He had earlier bouts with emphysema, a lung ailment which restricts the amount of oxygen available to the blood, and was hospitalized in Dallas last December.

ROGERS, Ark. (AP)—Maj. Gen. Winston Peabody Wilson, deputy chief of the National Guard Bureau in Washington since January 1953, will speak May 31 at the dedication of Pea Ridge National Military Park. Wilson is a native of Arkadelphia. The park is 10 miles northeast of Rogers.

Crossett to Study Utility Purchase

CROSSETT, Ark. (AP) — The Crossett City Council unanimously adopted a suggestion Monday night that Mayor Vaskell Carter appoint a committee of 12 to study the question of whether the city's utilities should be operated by the city or private interests.

Some 300 people attended a public meeting on the question and decided they wouldn't know how to vote on the issue if the council called a special election.

Jack Stephens of Stephens, Inc. told the meeting that if Crossett residents wanted to buy the utilities that serve it "we are going to oppose it."

He repeated that he didn't think the city could produce enough money to buy, operate and improve the electric, gas, water and telephone systems at Crossett.

William C. Norman, president of the Crossett Division of the Georgia-Pacific Corp., said he was against any encroachment by the government in business. He formerly was on the Board of the Public Utilities Commission.

The utilities are owned by Stephens, Inc., and T. J. Raney and Co. of Little Rock, which recently bought the utility stock from former Crossett Co. stockholders. The Crossett Co. recently was sold to Georgia-Pacific.

Jack Meadows was named chairman of the study committee. Mrs. Robert Hudgens and Don Rodgers were also appointed to it. Carter is to appoint the other nine members later. The committee will report within 60 days to the council.

Negroes Plan to Return to N.J. School

ENGLEWOOD, N.J. (AP)—Negro children and their parents were expected to return today to the predominantly white Cleveland Elementary School, where the children bypassed the principal Monday and sat unregistered in six-grade classes.

There were no reported incidents during the three-hour sit-in by eight children.

The group is protesting racial imbalance in the Englewood schools. They have been boycotting since Feb. 26 the Lincoln Elementary School, whose enrollment is 98 per cent Negro.

The parents said their children would remain in the Cleveland school classes "unless overpowered by physical violence and violently forced to leave."

Thorlief Henriksen, Cleveland principal, said the eight children were brought in through a side door by their parents and put in three six-grade classes while he was talking to other parents who said they wanted to register their children.

The superintendent of schools, Dr. Mark R. Shedd, said the eight were allowed to remain as visitors "in order to avoid the possibility of an untoward incident which might further disrupt the normal activities of the school."

Englewood has five elementary schools, three including Cleveland with mostly white enrollments and two with predominantly Negro enrollments.

Segregation is banned by law in New Jersey. The state operates on a neighborhood school policy whereby children are assigned to the school nearest their home. The Englewood School Board says the racial imbalance here has resulted from residential pattern.

Compromise in German Strike Near

BONN, Germany (AP)—The 10-day-old metalworkers' strike and lockout, West Germany's worst labor tieup in a generation, appeared headed today for a compromise settlement under the guiding hand of Vice Chancellor Ludwig Erhard.

Labor and management leaders reached agreement on a wage compromise hammered out by Erhard in a 12-hour session.

The leaders indicated that union and employer negotiation committees will accept Erhard's plan to raise wages 5 per cent for 12 months and an additional 2 per cent for 6 months, beginning next April 1. The workers, who average $31.25 a week, had sought an 8 per cent increase.

The strike and lockout idled a half million workers in southwestern Germany and threatened to spread to 1.3 million metal workers in the Ruhr.

Farm Bureau Urges Wheat Plan Defeat

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Harold F. Ohlendorf of Osceola, president of the Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation, urged Monday defeat of the wheat certificate plan in the May 21 national farmers' referendum.

The outcome of the vote, Ohlendorf said in a news release, is a key to all future farm programs.

He said farmers will decide whether they will turn toward government-supplied supply-control and price fixing "as proposed in the wheat certificate plan, or toward greater reliance on the market and farmers' own production decision."

He said he opposed the plan "because it embraces the concept of supply-control in its strictest sense."

And it would open the door to establishment of strict controls on other farm enterprises, Ohlendorf said, like dairying, poultry, livestock and the grain complex on which all of them depend.

The wheat certificate plan would institute a new concept in controls—control on the volume of marketing, bushel controls, Ohlendorf said.

He said a bushel quota is a marketing certificate on a percentage of a crop, times the normal yield.

It would also supply much stricter acreage allotments, a new type of marketing quota system, control of acreage diverted from wheat and authority for the secretary of agriculture to regulate handlers, processors and distributors, Ohlendorf said.

Winthrop Surprised by Marriage

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP)—Winthrop Rockefeller said Monday night he was caught by surprise by his brother's sudden marriage last Saturday.

Rockefeller was in Nashville, Tenn., at the time for a meeting of the Vanderbilt University Board of Trust. He declined comment then.

Monday night he said he could not speculate on how the marriage of New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and Margaretta Murphy might affect the governor's political fortunes.

Rockefeller said he had not talked to his brother since the marriage. He said only time would tell how the marriage would affect the political life of the Rockefeller.

White suffered chest injuries, but was not hospitalized. No charges were filed.

2nd Telstar Satellite Goes Into Space

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)

—A three-stage Delta rocket blasted off today in an effort to send a second Telstar satellite into orbit as another step toward worldwide space communications system.

The 90-foot rocket blazed skyward at 6:38 a.m. with the 175-pound Telstar 2 cradled in its nose. The satellite was aimed at a wide looping orbit ranging from 575 to 6,559 miles above the earth.

Project officials announced shortly after launch that the second stage had ignited successfully.

Officials said the satellite would require nearly four hours to make one trip around the globe and that a successful orbit probably could not be confirmed until the first pass was completed.

Telstar 2, like its enormously successful predecessor, Telstar 1, was built as an experimental vehicle to seek the best means of using satellites to transmit radio, television, news, picture and telephone service to every corner of the globe.

The new space "switchboard" included design changes aimed at avoiding the severe radiation damage which eventually killed the first Telstar. Its planned deepest penetration into space was nearly twice that of the first Telstar's 3,543-mile apogee. This would make possible longer transmission times between the United States and western Europe and next year would open the way for exchange of television signals between the United States and Japan.

Initial transatlantic tests with Telstar 2 were scheduled tonight about 13 hours after launching when the bejeweled sphere was to start its fourth orbit.

A ground station at Andover, Maine, planned to beam a four-minute video tape to the satellite for immediate relay to ground stations in Britain and France. The European stations, in turn, prepared a four-minute tape for transmission to U.S. stations.

There was no immediate plan to feed the exchange to commercial television networks.

U.S. Army headquarters in Heidelberg said it was investigating both cases.

Svenson is a bachelor. His mother, Mrs. Antonio N. Svenson, Washington, D.C., said her son "must have been tipsy" and refused to believe he had gone voluntarily to East Germany.

Mrs. Svenson said her husband was killed by German bombs in Lithuania and she and her son fled to the West shortly after World War II. They reached the United States after living in a displaced persons' camp in Germany.

"He's being tortured," the weeping mother said. "Oh, I know how the Soviets torture, and if they find out he's a D.P.—he's dead already."

Mrs. Svenson said her son last wrote in January and his letter indicated nothing was amiss.

In Newburgh, N.Y., Cain's wife declined to comment. She said she had not received official word from the Defense Department.

She and Cain have been married for 10 years and have three children, a relative said.

Post Canal Cost to Be $51 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—U.S. Engineers said Monday the 10-mile Arkansas Post Canal and its locks and dams will cost about $51.5 million.

Engineers said 733 million in construction contracts would be awarded this year, with completion date set for June 1968.

The canal would be 300 feet wide at the bottom and 12 feet deep while the Arkansas River channel would be 250 feet wide and nine feet deep.

Engineers said bids on construction of Locks and Dams Nos. 1 and 2 in the Arkansas Post area will be opened Oct. 29 and July, 1964, respectively. Both dates are tentative.

Construction on the canal is expected to begin next March, after begin next March, after bids on the estimated 710 million project are opened next December.

Commies Claim Two Americans Ask Asylum

By JOHN O. KOEHLER

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany says a U.S. Army captain and a sergeant have appealed for political asylum. The Army confirmed that the captain crossed into East Germany and the sergeant is missing from his unit.

The captain was a native of Communist-ruled Lithuania, and his mother in the United States received the report with alarm and disbelief. The sergeant's wife had nothing to say.

The East German news agency ADN identified the pair as Capt. Alfred Svenson, 30, of Scranton, Pa., and Sgt. Benjamin Cain, 35 of Frederica Del.

There apparently was no connection between them. Svenson was stationed with a tank battalion at Giessen near the border between West and East Germany and Cain in West Berlin.

ADN said Svenson drove across the border in uniform in a military vehicle Saturday and Cain contacted authorities in East Berlin Friday to ask for asylum.

U.S. Army headquarters in Heidelberg said it was investigating both cases.

Svenson is a bachelor. His mother, Mrs. Antonio N. Svenson, Washington, D.C., said her son "must have been tipsy" and refused to believe he had gone voluntarily to East Germany.

Mrs. Svenson said her husband was killed by German bombs in Lithuania and she and her son fled to the West shortly after World War II. They reached the United States after living in a displaced persons' camp in Germany.

City to Seek Loan for 200 Houses

At last night's Board of Directors meet the group approved a resolution calling for a federal loan to construct 200 housing units in Hope.

The resolution was submitted by Hubert Thrash and Talbot Feild Jr. of the Hope Housing Authority Committee. This action gives the group basis for a start on the housing project.

Vincent Foster and George Peck submitted plat of the Westwood subdivision in the southwest corner of the city and discussed construction regulations.

All other action was routine.

Birmingham Jails Jammed With Negroes

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Birmingham's jails are jammed with Negroes almost to the bursting point today, and leaders of a massive desegregation drive pledged more demonstrations.

"We will definitely have more demonstrations starting about noon," said the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

King's comment followed the arrest Monday of a police-estimated 1,000 marchers, including Negro comedian Dick Gregory. The vast majority of those arrested for parading without a permit were school children or other teen agers. Many skipped classes to join in the campaign.

More than 2,400 have been arrested since the massive demonstrations started Thursday.

An additional 200-plus, including King, were arrested in earlier phases of the integration drive which began April 3. Police officials said at least 2,000 declined to post bond and remained in the crowded jails and detention quarters.

"When the sun goes down today, there'll be so many Negroes in jail that the people of Birmingham will hate to see a Negro," said another Negro leader, the Rev. James Bevel of Cleveland, Miss.

"We could have had 2,500 arrested yesterday, but we got tired."

Gregory arrived by plane to join the demonstrators and within three hours was arrested at the head of the first group of marchers.

The entertainer led the crowd of teen-agers almost a block from a Negro church before they were halted by police officers.

"An official asked Gregory if he had a parade permit. He answered no and the officer told him to turn around."

"No, we'll stay here," Gregory said.

The officer said such action violated city law and also a state court injunction. He turned and said: "Dick Gregory says they will not disperse. Call the wagon."

The Rev. Wyatt Tee Walker, one of King's top lieutenants, was asked if there were any plans to post bond for Gregory.

"No, not at this time," Walker answered. "When I talked with him, he said he planned to remain in jail for the duration."

Gregory had sought unsuccessfully to be arrested recently in voter registration demonstrations at Greenwood, Miss.

As the group led by Gregory was taken off, wave after wave of other groups left the church on the edge of the business district. Each marcher carried placards decrying segregation. They sang freedom songs as they walked two by two.

The groups were stopped by police officers, arrested, placed in school buses and hauled to jail. The operation lasted about two hours.

Lombardi Shocked Over Horning Case

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Vince Lombardi was so shocked by the first news of Paul Horning's football betting that he told Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the National Football League that he wanted to quit.

"I thought that I had fallen down somewhere along the line," said the coach and general manager of the champion Green Bay Packers. "Nobody bears down more than I on warning the players about gambling and questionable associations."

Lombardi had advance notice from Rozelle of the pending suspension of his star halfback.

"I was completely shocked," Lombardi said. "I had no idea he (Paul) was involved. I was very upset at the time. When I thought it through I realized that the league's action, although severe, was right."

"In Green Bay, the people were surprised. Paul was a likable fellow who liked to be the center of attraction. He wasn't satisfied just to be in a room, he wanted to dominate it. That all helped him become a better football player. The people liked him but nobody excused him for what he did. I feel sorry for the boy."

Nobody knows how the loss of Horning will react on the Packers next season.

"I have seen some of the players who were in to sign their contracts," said Lombardi. "We did

WHAT EVERY GIRL SHOULD KNOW

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: I'm a one-time date girl. Ever since I was 17 (I'm now 26), it's been the same old story: a boy will make a bee-line for me at church, in the office or at some friend's home and ask for a date.

Delighted, for I'm one who loves to be on the go, I say sure, when, where? He takes me to a dance, a special restaurant or show and we have a wonderful time but that's the last I see of him.

Why? I'm not the kind of a girl a fellow has to spend a lot of money on nor am I had looking. My family think I dress well have style and am good company. My grades were high at school and I have had the same swell job, with promotions, ever since graduating. My boss and others at the office say, "You're a good kid, so dependable. The show could not go on without you."

But the facts speak louder than words. I'm on the outside looking in — never part of the gang as it were. My folks are as distressed as I over what has become a recent performance and suggested my writing you. I have a wonderful father and mother; kind, loving and understanding. Their happiness in each other is reflected in our home life.

Aside from this dearth of a permanent boy friend, I am a lucky girl. But when I see my school chums going steady, marrying and starting families of their own, I can't help wondering what's holding the attention of men? If magic formula for attracting and holding the attention of men if so please, please, tell me.

Wallflower

Dear Wallflower: The magic formula, which every woman should know, is charm. It has nothing to do with beauty, style or intellect, though they all help. It's a combination of caring about people, showing a genuine interest in what they are doing, seeing them when they speak, and listening to what they have to say. One of the most popular women in New York society, Katherine Duer, was the homeliest. She had friends galore. Admirers swarmed to her box at the opera, horse show and races. Her first husband, Clarence Mackay, adored her. So did her second, Dr. Joseph Blake, famous surgeon.

Her handclasp was firm, her eyes met yours when you or she spoke and, so long as you and she were together, you had her undivided attention. Flattering. Certainly, but also very human.

Since you are 26, the men you date must be the same age or older and naturally go to business. Do you ever talk to them about their jobs? Men dearly love to discuss themselves, what they do and how well they do it. Study the art of listening. Be a good audience. Most men have hobbies and enjoy telling about them. Cultivate a hobby yourself: stamp collecting for example, or collecting jazz or classical records. Learn the fine points of baseball — here's a subject nearly

18 Fatalities in Arkansas Last Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An automobile failed to make a curve near Little Rock late Sunday night and hit a crowd of people watching a fire. An 80-year-old woman was killed, boosting the violent death toll for the state to 18 for the week ended midnight Sunday.

State Troopers Bob Glenn and Elmore Cartwright said the car was driven by Floyd Henry Cooper of Little Rock.

It knocked over two highway posts, hit the crowd and knocked down a tree before it stopped, the troopers said.

Eight other persons were hospitalized in serious condition and every man is wildly enthusiastic about and finds it a wonderful surprise to meet a girl who really knows the game. You might also give thought to taking up an active sport like tennis or bowling where again you can meet men on common ground and share their interests.

Dear Helen: I'm a small, skinny girl going on 15; four feet ten inches tall and about 72 pounds in weight. I would like to get a job on Saturdays or during the summer but I think, and from what my parents and friends have told me, I'm too small and no one would hire me.

For personal reasons I can't get a job as a counselor during the summer. My parish church and school offer no job or advise I could use the money since I'm in the first year of high I can get working papers but do not intend to quit school. I touch-type but very slowly. Do you have any ideas or suggestions? —Small, Skinny and Desperate

Dear Small: Size won't prevent you from getting a job so put that thought out of your mind. Instead sit down, think what you would like to do, then take stock of your qualifications. You have one asset — ability to type. Practice typing; increase your speed. This could be the opening wedge in the door leading to a worthwhile job. Get the names of business firms in the big office buildings by scanning the lobby directory board. Write each and every one, offering your services as typist. Canvas the churches and summer theatres with the idea of typing camp and program bulletins. Make the most of your asset!

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "On Making Conversation"

Marion Shaver, 23, of St. Louis, was killed early Sunday when his car hit a tree beside state Highway 77 about two miles north of Manila.

A seven-year-old Manila girl, Mary McCalley, drowned at Manila in a floodway ditch about 50 feet from her home. Deputy Sheriff Lee Baker said water was five feet deep at the dock. Delbert George, a neighbor, said he heard her screams but was unable to reach her before swiftly moving water carried her away.

Von Henderson, 26, of Mountain View, was killed when a car in which he was riding hit a culvert on state Highway 25 about seven miles west of Batesville. Five other persons were injured.

The injured were hospitalized at Little Rock. They were Judy Young, 21, of Leslie; Janet Winn-ingham, 17, of Marcella; and Donna Lee, 21, of St. James all seriously hurt; Joe Jefferson 21, of St. James and Bill Burroughs, about 28, of Mountain View. State Trooper Robert Patterson said Burroughs was driving the car when it missed a curve and hit the culvert. Henderson was pinned beneath the car, Patterson said.

Also during the week, nine other persons were killed in traffic accidents, one other drowned, one was shot to death and one was electrocuted.

Hog Gridders Work With Dummies

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The University of Arkansas football team went through the first practice session in Coach Frank Broyles' Arkansas tenure that was entirely devoted to work with dummies Monday.

The dummy scrimmage at Fayetteville lasted two hours. There was no heavy work because most of the players were stiff because of Saturday night's Red-White football game in Little Rock, Broyles said.

The last practice session of the spring session will be held today, with the last Red-White game this year scheduled for Thursday at Fayetteville.

The Southwest Conference allows 20 workouts within a 31-day period. Broyles said only two days remain in the time limit. Red-White games count as practice sessions.

If the game is rained out Thursday, Broyles said it would be put back a week because a muddy field would not be of the most benefit to the team.

Lineups for Thursday's Red-White battle will be essentially the same as Saturday's lineups, Broyles said, although some minor changes will be made. He said injuries necessitated the changes.

Jon Brittenum, Gordon Guest and Jerry Jones were singled

Texas finished with a 32-4 record compared to 31-5 for Rice. Jerry Walters of Texas was the only No. 1 player in the conference to win all six singles matches when he beat Fritz Barton of Southern Methodist 6-0, 6-1.

Sgt. Archie Elliott has returned to his base in Maryland after two weeks with his family, Mr. and Mrs. Issiah Elliott and other relatives and friends.

The Old Pro Bobby Layne to Bow Out

NEW YORK (AP) — Old pro Bobby Layne, who holds most of football's passing records in the iron grasp that guided Detroit to three championships, has decided to pack it in.

"I've had it," the brash blond quarterback said Monday night. "I can't do it any more."

Layne, 34, spent 15 years in the National Football League, most of it with Detroit and Pittsburgh. He led Detroit to the league championships in 1952, 1953 and 1957 and finished his career with most of the passing records in the book.

Those include passes attempted, 3,467; passes completed, 1,710; total yards gained passing, 25,083 and touchdown passes 187.

"I've had my share of the thrills," Layne said. "Let the younger guys go out and get them now."

He made the comment in confirming an announcement in Dallas of his retirement by Pittsburgh coach and general manager Buddy Parker.

"He's had a lot of success," Parker said. "I think it's time to call a stop."

Parker said he had received a letter from Layne announcing his retirement. Layne confirmed the report in New York, where he attended a dinner honoring sports stars and dignitaries in the fields of business, government and science.

Layne said he has no immediate plans for the future.

A DEAD ENDING

Chapter XXXII

General Hooper paused, then continued his story: "I waited for someone to report that I had personally delivered those orders. If I had been seen talking to him it was by one of his men who was now dead. It — it was assumed he had acted on his own. I let the assumption stand." He let his breath out in a long sigh.

"Our position held," he said, after a moment. "We got naval and artillery support. The command post was wiped out. We won an important victory then. I — I was decorated for my handling of the situation."

She didn't move. Orange dots in her glasses were aimed straight at him.

"I can tell you the names of every one of those 41 men, Miss Terrill. I can tell you the names of their wives and children. Eventually, a dozen years ago, after serving again in Korea, I retired. I was offered a chance to write my memoirs. I was to make a great deal of money from them. One night, in the middle of writing the false story of that time, I stepped out onto the ledge outside my study window — 17 floors above the street. Just like you, Miss Terrill, I stood there trying to make up my mind. I knew how hard it is to decide."

"But you came in again?" Dawn's voice was so low I could scarcely hear it.

"I came in again. And that is where your mother enters the picture, my dear. She was working for my publishers, helping me edit the first part of the book. One night I told her. I had to tell someone, and from that telling grew a plan. I would help the families of those 41 men. To do that in secret — you see I still hadn't the courage to come out in the open — I needed someone I could trust. Your mother was that person, Miss Terrill. I paid her a salary which took care of her living expenses and your education. She couldn't tell anyone she had a job or what the job was. I was still being a coward, you see. But in the seven years it took to make sure those 41 families were surviving, I don't think I saw your mother a half-dozen times. I was never in the apartment she lived in. We were hardly even friends. I was the employer. She drew her salary and did her work. So you see how far from understanding the situation you have been, Miss Terrill. I hardly knew you existed, Miss Terrill. You were no nuisance to me. So you see, what you have thought is pure imagination. You can't hate her for something that never existed, Miss Terrill."

The silence was unbearable. It was as if we were all leaning forward, waiting for Dawn's reaction. Would this revelation bring her in?

And then she began to laugh. "You still have a weakness, General," she said. Her laughter was very close to tears. "You still think your own problem — telling it in public — could mean something to me." Her voice rose. "But she kept me shut away from her for seven years; she never once let me come to see her. She deserted me! Do the beaches of Sicily explain that to you, General — or to me?"

"I think I can explain that, Dawn," a calm voice said at my elbow.

I'd been aware of someone moving in close behind me in that crowded space. I'd been too intent on Dawn to see who it was. I assumed it was Cash, or one of his police officers.

Now I turned and saw a middle-aged priest in black suit and clerical collar.

"It's Father Moran, Dawn," he said.

What a stage manager that Nichols was, I thought.

Dawn sat very straight, very tense. Tense like that, one, quick, impulsive movement . . .

"Go away," Dawn said, dangerously. "I can't take any more. Go away and let me think."

"I'd like to explain what the General couldn't explain, if you'll let me," the priest said, quietly. I saw Nichols, leaning forward. This was touch and go.

"It is in the form of a confession, Dawn," the priest said. "I make it now, because I have only just learned I've been guilty of a sin."

"How could you commit a sin, Father?" Dawn asked, the bitter laughter near the surface again. "In your ivory tower?"

"By judging when I am not a judge," the priest said, gravely. "By condemning without evidence."

The orange dots were fixed on him steadily. "No games, Father," she said, warningly.

"You were 11 years old when your mother bought you to St. Angelica's," the priest said. "Your mother was a widow. We understood she would have to work to support you. At the time she was with a publisher. Most proper and satisfactory."

cago Sunday in a waiver deal.

Hours after arriving he was out on the mound, taking over for Gary Peters in the ninth inning. Brosnan struck out two of the three men he faced, preserved Peters' first major league victory and gave himself something to write home about.

The loss dropped the A's into a first-place tie with the New York Yankees, who got home runs from Mickey Mantle and Tom Tresh in a 10-3 walloping of Detroit.

In the only other AL game, the Los Angeles Angels edged Minnesota 5-4. Pittsburgh retained first place in the National League, beating the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-4 in the lone game on the NL schedule.

Mantle, Tresh and Bobby Richardson each stranded three hits as the Yankees pounded out 15 against Tigers' starter Hank Aguirre and his successors. Both Mantle and Tresh drove in three runs. The victory went to Whitey Ford, who needed relief help from Jim Bouton to nail his third straight victory.

Albie Pearson, who earlier had batted in two runs with a double, produced another two-run double in the last of the ninth as the Angels came from behind to beat the Twins and end a four-game losing streak. Minnesota had snapped a 3-3 tie in the top half of the inning on Zoilo Versalles' run-producing single.

Johnny Logan's pinch-hit single with the bases loaded in the sixth inning capped a four-run Pirate explosion against Don Drysdale and the punchless Dodgers, who have lost seven of their last nine games. The Pirates had tied the score earlier in the inning on a run-scoring double by Bob Skinner, who eventually scored on an infield out.

Brosnan found himself in trouble with the Reds this season whenever he picked up a baseball or a pen. He made six relief appearances for Cincinnati and had been bombed for a 7.20 earned run average in 4-23 innings.

The author of the widely read "The Long Season" and "The Pennant Race" also ran into trouble over his writings, although Cincinnati owner Bill DeWitt denied he had put any gag on the 33-year-old right-hander who posted a 10-4 record when the Reds won the pennant in 1961.

"In every baseball contract," explained DeWitt, "there's a clause prohibiting players from writing without the club's permission. I merely called this to Brosnan's attention. He promised me he would submit to me for approval anything he wrote. He did not live up to that promise."

Whether that or his lack of success on the mound was the reason for Brosnan's departure, is a guess. But as in the words of Omar Khayyam, Brosnan moved on, the Reds shipping him to Chi-

Cuban's Balk Cost Cards the Pennant

By DICK BARNES

Associated Press Sports Writer
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Remember Adrian Zabala? Probably not—unless you're a longtime Giants baseball fan or a St. Louis Cardinal who lost the pennant because the left-handed Cuban from the Mexican League balked.

Baseball's current balk controversy and the possibility of a rule change recalls the night of Aug. 6, 1949, when Zabala caused another change in the balk rule.

It was the bottom of the first inning at St. Louis and the then-New York Giants led 1-0. Red Schoendienst of the Cards was on base and Nippy Jones was batting.

Zabala threw him a curve and Jones smashed a two-run homer into the bleachers—but wait! First base umpire Bill Stewart called "balk," and the home run was nullified.

St. Louis lost 3-1. The margin, Jones' erased homer. The Cardinals lost the National League Pennant to Brooklyn by one game.

Jones, now a Sacramento businessman, vividly recalled his frustration:

"I hit the ball over the fence and I never heard the umpire say 'balk' at all until I was rounding second base. Then he said the pitcher balked and I had to swing over again. Zabala gave me the

Travs Drop Game to Indianapolis

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas lost a 4-1 International League baseball game to Indianapolis Monday night, but remained in first place in the Southern Division.

Atlanta, vying with Arkansas for the lead, also lost. Columbus trimmed the Crackers 2-1.

In other games, Jacksonville beat Buffalo 8-6, Rochester blanked Richmond 2-0 and Toronto topped Syracuse 9-3.

Frank Kreutzer survived three scary innings and then settled down to throw a five-hitter at the Travelers. Kenneth Berry made one saving catch in each of the first three innings to keep Kreutzer in command.

Indianapolis opened with a run in the first inning, but Arkansas tied it 1-1 in the second on Lee Elia's double and Danny Cater's single.

The score remained tied until the eighth inning, when Indianapolis put together a home run by Chris Buford, a double by Ramon Conde, a hit batsman a double by Gene Stephens and a single by Berry.

Paul Brown, making his first start for Arkansas since coming down from the parent Philadelphia Phillies, took the loss.
